MAKING GOOD PROGRESS ON FILTRATION PLANT

All Excavation Work Completed and Concrete is Being Put In PUMP STATION ADDITION
Brick Structure Being Built to it to Make Room for New Duplicate Pump

Bad weather has interfered to some extent with the work on the construction of the filtration plant and addition to the pump station by the Charleroi Water company, but good progress has been made. The contract work is being done by the Phil and Miller company of Pittsburgh under the supervision of F. S. Adams, a water company engineer. The man in charge here for Phil and Miller is William F. Flaherty.

The filtration plant is being erected on the ground recently purchased from the Charleroi Lumber company by the Water company, it being the parcel of land lying between the street car and the railroad tracks adjoining the present pump station. All excavation work has now been completed, and now the concrete work is being done.

An addition the same size as the present pump station is being erected to it at the northern end. Some distance away is to be the filter house. This building is where the water will be filtered. It will be 66 by 50 feet, and the capacity will be 3,000,000 gallons a day.

To the north of the filter house will be constructed the settling basin, where the water will pass from the filter house. This structure will be 96 feet by 44 feet in dimensions, and will hold 375,000 gallons of water. All the building will be constructed of pressed brick and will have slate roofing. The well will be allowed to remain where it now is. The work is being rushed to completion at an early date, and from the plans and specifications Charleroi is to have a filtration plant which would be a credit to a much larger city. Plenty of room is being left for future extensions.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF CASES

Contagious Diseases Well in Hand at the Present Time

ELEVEN SICK OF MEASLES

The Charleroi board of health has under its supervision at the present time a number of cases of contagious diseases, the majority of which are measles. Every possible effort is being made to keep the various diseases from spreading, and the only one which shows any increase is scarlet fever.

In the town at the present time, according to Health Officer William Darby, there are 11 cases of measles, six cases of scarlet fever and a number of whooping cough. All the patients are being strictly guarded, and the houses where they exist are carefully quarantined to prevent a spread of any of the diseases.

Rev. Kerr One Of Speakers

Attending Fayette County Convention at Uniontown Today

Rev. G. G. Kerr, pastor of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church, went to Uniontown yesterday afternoon, where this afternoon he will deliver the principal address at the county Sunday school convention now in session. His topic will be "The Home Department Spiritual Force." Rev. Kerr is the president of the Washington county Sunday school association which will hold a convention at Washington, the latter part of this week. Another of the county officers, Mrs. Mary L. Stewart, field secretary, is also to deliver an address this afternoon.

YOUNGSTERS ADMIT THEY ROBBED STORE AT NORTH CHARLEROI

Younger Two Recently Returned at Expense of Local Juvenile Court Committee From Philadelphia

David Nutting, aged about 17 years, and Julius Orras, aged about 14 years, entered pleas to the court yesterday of guilty to felonious breaking and entry at North Charleroi. The younger boy had formerly been before the juvenile court and was placed in a protective near Philadelphia, from which he was recently released.

The court decided to send both to Morganza. The two lads had entered the store of Mary Shanks at North Charleroi, and had carried away groceries to the value of $33. From the Shanks store they carried off two gallons of ice cream, a large box of cigarettes, five boxes of chewing gum, three pies, four boxes of candy, box of cigars, eight packages of Tuxedo tobacco, a ham, a cheese, one dozen boxes of zigzag candy, five packages of Old Hickory tobacco, three dozen oranges, 100 cigars, 80 tobies, $1 in cash, a clock, and other goods.

They also entered the store of Frank Marant on Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue and carried away groceries to the amount of $9.60. This included 23 boxes of sardines and other eatables.

The Charleroi juvenile court committee recently paid $10 car fare to bring young Orras back from the eastern institution to be placed in a home. Orras was one of the "Dirty Dozen," a gang of juveniles who committed all sorts of depredations in this community, and was broken up by the arrest and commitment of the principals to the care of the juvenile court.

MINISTERS ASK LEAGUE TO BAR CERTAIN PLAYERS

Adopt Resolution Requesting President Johnston to Debar Those Who Take Part in Sunday Games

COPIES WILL BE SENT TO OTHER TOWNS

The following is the resolution adopted at a meeting last week of the Charleroi Ministerial Association. A copy of the resolution has been placed in the hands of President J. K. Johnston, of the Charleroi Church League, and a copy sent to ministers of other towns nearby:

Whereas, The Ministerial Association of Charleroi learns with deep regret that a game of baseball was played at Donora on Sunday, May 29, 1910, between a team of that place and Charleroi; and

Whereas, We deprecate anything that would encourage Sabbath breaking and tend to be an opening wedge into an "open Sunday."

Resolved, That believing we should put a guard on everything that would be a menace to this sacred day and take away from its true right and place, we discourage the playing of baseball or any other sport in or out of our own town or in its vicinity, all of which tend to a lax notion of the day, taking away from it its sacredness and setting the wrong idea before our youth whom we would instruct to keep this day diligently.

Resolved, That we represent our attitude on this question more particularly to the young men of our Church League and counsel them to neither witness or take part in any way in this secularizing of the Sabbath, and thus hold up the high standard of good and legitimate athletics which every pastor representing the various churches has encouraged; and that we believe the young men who engage in these games do so from a high estimate of that which they represent and that they will not suffer any break in this good sentiment.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the commission of the Church Baseball League and the President, J. K. Johnston, and that he instruct his managers to debar any members of the Church League who participate in Sunday games at any place.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Ministers Association or a representative minister of the neighboring towns, and if they have not already done so, urge them to pass resolutions of a similar kind as opposing Sunday games or any sort in their respective towns and thus unite with us in fostering Christian sentiment for the protection of the Sabbath, and further that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our local paper for publication.

Lawrence Countians Boosting Congressman Tener for Governor

New Castle Herald Says He Would Make Good Official--Has Executive Ability and Good Statesmansepi

The New Castle Herald yesterday contains the following in regard to the candidacy of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor:

"Signs continue to multiply that Congressman John K. Tener of this district has a very excellent chance of securing the Republican nomination for Governor. This would please his thousands of friends in this district and throughout the State. That he has many friends is amply shown by the magnificent vote he received for renomination.

"The Herald would be perfectly satisfied with his selection, as he has already demonstrated many qualities of statesmanship. He possesses force of character and a mind of his own. He would act upon his own initiative and would actually govern the State in the way he considered for the best interest of the public.

"That he would receive strong support in this part of the State is certain. Even in this city he would now receive the support of newspapers that only two years ago were bitterly opposed to him, supporting Congressman Acheson for the Republican Congressional nomination. The Herald was at that time in favor of the Charleroi statesman and it is yet.

"This paper is glad to witness the newspaper change of heart and politics that is driving local contemporaries into the straight Republican camp, although this change requires no small skill in mental acrobatics to enable it to land there with any grace at all. But 'it's never too late to mend' and 'better late than never' are sayings as true as they are old."

TRIP TO HARRISBURG ONE LONG TO BE REMEMBERED

Preliminary Arrangements are Made for Commencement to Be Held June 28

The graduating class of Douglas Business College at a meeting yesterday afternoon elected officers, and made preliminary arrangements for holding the commencement exercises at School Hall on June 28. The officers elected were: President, Glenn Lynn, Donora; vice president, Miss Janie Jones, Donora; secretary, Miss Ida M. Good, West Brownsville; treasurer, Miss Margaret Miller, Charleroi.

WILL ASK FOR BIDS SHORTLY

Engineers at Work Preparing Plans for Changes at Brownsville

THREE RAILROADS SHARE

Bids will be called for within a short time by the three connecting railroads at Brownsville, the Pennsylvania, the P. and L. E. and the Monongahela for the construction of a new double track bridge, the construction of new classification yards the elevation of another yard to a new grade, and the erection of a 40 foot concrete arch. The bridge alone will mean the expenditure of $750,000. It will be a double track affair and have a channel span of 450 feet. The three roads will share in the cost of the work.

The chief feature of the work is the construction of the bridge, which will be put up with a view to having it serve for many years. It will be 10 feet higher than the structure it is to replace and will be of unusually heavy construction. It will require 10,000 cubic yards of masonry, among other things.

The concrete arch that the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie is to build will carry the tracks over the approach which crosses a roadway.

The Pennsylvania in the classification yards it is to build will have 30 tracks, each half a mile long. The yard will be operated on the gravity system. The Monongahela railroad will carry out an enlargement of its yards which has been contemplated for some time. In all, there will be required 300,000 cubic yards of fill to properly ballast the new terminal point where the roads exchange freight.

Notice

The Washington Avenue Cadets are ordered to report for parade duty at the Second street school building on Tuesday evening, June 14, at 6:20 o'clock sharp in service uniforms with arms, company colors and drum. Car leaves at 6:30. Chas. Wallgren, Captain.

Indications Point to Most Interesting Time at State Capitol

MR. TENER MUCH FAVORED

Growing Sentiment For Him as Candidate Adds Zest to Proposed Excursion

"Are you going to Harrisburg?" This is the all important question in this community just now, in view of the fact that a large delegation from Charleroi and vicinity is expected to attend the Republican State convention at Harrisburg next week. The growing sentiment in favor of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor has added zest to the proposed excursion, and the indications are that it will be a trip long to be remembered by those who take part in it.

As previously stated the proposition is to charter a train of Pullman sleeping cars, and to start from Pittsburgh about noon on Tuesday of next week, arriving in Harrisburg that evening. The convention will be held the next day, and it is the intention to make a striking demonstration on the evening before in favor of Mr. Tener. Delegations will be received from a number of points in the district up and down the river and the excursion will be joined by the delegation from the county seat and intermediate points.

Over at the county seat the Tener boomers are most enthusiastic. They have chartered four Pullman cars, and almost a hundred have already submitted their names and been given reservations. This section of the excursion will join the Charleroi contingent at Pittsburgh, and make up a special train for the State capital.

The fare for the round trip will be $15 including sleeping quarters in the cars while lying over at Harrisburg. It is essential for all who propose going to pay the amount over to the committee in order that the reservations may be made. This is a matter that cannot be delayed, and the committee must have the money in hand in order to charter the train. Payments may be made to W. W. Jimeson, J. E. Masters, W. R. Gaut, C. F. Thompson or R. H. Rush.

FRIENDS REMEMBER LITTLE GIRL ON HER FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Frances Metz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Metz of North Charleroi, was tendered a party by her little friends yesterday afternoon in honor of her fourth birthday. A number of beautiful presents was received by the little girl, and a pleasant afternoon was spent. The hours were from 2 to 5 and during that time the little folks enjoyed themselves with games of a various nature. Lunch was served. Mrs. C. A. Metz was assisted by her daughter, Miss Mary Metz and Miss Mamie Rockwell and Miss Genevieve Nutt.

On to Harrisburg

The proposition to send a delegation from Charleroi to the Republican convention at Harrisburg next week, where Congressman John K. Tener's name may come before the convention as a candidate for Governor, is a fitting tribute to a worthy citizen and townsman. Charleroi is long on civic pride, and prospective honors for the town have always met with a ready response. It is a matter of local importance to make a demonstration in keeping with our claims and the people of this community can very materially aid the cause by showing at least that their favorite son has no lack of loyal supporters at home. In addition to this a visit to the nominating convention is a matter of education and well worth the time and expense. It has been charged that a few politicians dictate affairs and make the nominations. If delegations from each county were to accompany their delegates and oversee their official action, affairs would not be so out and dried as they appear. Those who attend a State nomination convention have the opportunity of seeing and knowing how things are conducted, and if more citizens made it a point of looking in on proceedings it is altogether likely that more deference would be given to the popular will. Those who attend the convention from a patriotic sense of duty will perform a useful service to their fellow citizens.

Keep Off the Tracks

One hundred and five thousand casualties of which 50,000 were fatalities, is the result of persons trespassing on railroad tracks in the United States during the past eleven years. In other words 4,181 people are killed and 50,000 injured every year while walking on the tracks where they have no business to be. A war that kills and wounds that many people annually and keeps it up for eleven years in succession, would be considered a pretty bloody sort of conflict. It is to prevent this sanguinary slaughter that the Pennsylvania railroad company has become active in trying to prevent trespassing on its tracks. It employs special officers for the occasion, pays them for their services and yet for this humane effort the company is violently criticized. In many cases its officers are resisted and anathematized as infringing upon the rights of citizenship, and in some instances the county authorities refuse to receive offenders that have been committed for trespassing and jeopardizing their lives. Perhaps the greatest objection to the enforcement of the trespass law by the railroad companies is that the tracks afford so much better thoroughfare for foot passengers than the muddy roads at certain seasons of the year. To a certain extent each community is responsible for the annual slaughter by not providing passable footways for the public. At all events the railroads are performing a work of mercy in trying to reduce this slaughter. Five thousand people a year is too large a tribute to be uselessly sacrificed when they might have been spared. Therefore it is well for people to remember that they are liable to arrest as well as to be killed if they use the railroad tracks for a thoroughfare.

A Comparison

That the Mail's editorial columns are closely read was demonstrated yesterday by an error in the makeup. A disquisition on cancer, on the issues of the Democracy and the sentiment in favor of John K. Tener for Governor were so mixed up that it required considerable ingenuity on the part of the reader to decipher the intent of each editorial. This is a common occurrence on the inside, but for some unaccountable reason it was not discovered until the edition was about off the press.

No sooner was the paper out than calls began to be received over the 'phone calling attention to the mixup. Soon afterward interested readers began dropping in to tell the management about it, and representatives were hailed on the street, until the public was satisfied that the Mail was thoroughly cognizant of the error.

While the Mail has no excuses to offer—it was one of those slips of a business that mechanically as well as mentally has perhaps more details to watch than any other occupation—the error was of no graver import than is committed every day in any business house and profession in town or elsewhere. Because it was spread before the public it was conspicuous. The mistakes of doctors are buried; those of lawyers often dangle from the gallows or pine in prisons, while the errors of merchants, bankers and manufacturers are charged off to the profit and loss account. The mistakes of newspapers, however, are heralded to the public, and for that reason alone undue vigilance is exerted. In point of accuracy, considering the complexity of detail and time of execution, newspapers make fewer errors than any class of business men. The latter can conceal their mistakes, but those of the former are revealed at once, and on that account vigilance and care is the first requisite. That some escape this vigilance is not strange, but the number in proportion to the matter handled is surprisingly small.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The former renowned county politician's dabble into present day politics, bears the evidences of being nothing more or less than a systematic illusion of his own mental faculties.

The common question with college students now is "where can we get a job?"

With Roosevelt in Pittsburg and Secretary Knox in Centerville on the Fourth, Charleroi's celebration will be run against some slight opposition. The aviators who fell 80 feet, and only got their feet wet, without being the least bit injured, can afford to discuss upon the joys of locomotion.

The average person is usually very willing to accept favors from his worst enemy.

It is alleged the players on the Pittsburg ball team scrapped over religion. All the religion ball players are usually supposed to have would not even furnish good material for silence.

It is high time that the astronomers go back to the surer if not more interesting job of trying to learn whether or not Mars is inhabited.

The persons who are willing to pay $50 a seat besides railroad fare and hotel bills to see the pugilistic entanglement between Hon. Jeffries and Hon. Johnston should be free from the common ailment of complaining around home of the high cost of living.

If there is any person next year who says that the ground-hog is a liar, we hope to see him ducked in the old mill pond.

A correspondence course in physical culture may be all right, but we have our doubts concerning its efficiency, except to improve the muscles of the hand.

MANY MEET DEATH FROM TRESPASSING

Trespassing on railroad property in violation of the law has caused the deaths of more than 50,000 people in the United States in the last eleven years. In this same period more than 55,000 trespassers have been injured.

With a view to reducing to a minimum the practice of trespassing on its property, the Pennsylvania Railroad has determined to redouble its efforts to secure on its lines that rigid enforcement of the law against trespassing which in foreign countries has done so much to decrease the number of fatalities resulting from trespassing.

In 1907 the Pennsylvania inaugurated a vigorous campaign against trespassing, and due doubtless to this, the number of trespassers killed in 1908 was only 757. In 1909, 732 lost their lives in this way. In the eleven years prior to January 1, 1910, exactly 7,972 people who were on the Pennsylvania Railroad's right of way in wilful violation of the law, in spite of thousands of warning signs along the railroad, were killed. It is thus seen that in the seven years an average of two trespassers a day have been killed on Pennsylvania Railroad property.

This long death roll is every year charged up to the Railroad even though these people are killed as a result of their violating the law, and under conditions over which the Company has no control.

It is not only tramps who are killed and injured while trespassing, though thousands of them lose their lives in this way every year. Men of the laboring class, factory workmen, their wives and children, who use railroad tracks as thoroughfares, are killed by the hundreds. That the practice of walking on railroad tracks is prevalent in industrial districts gives added significance to the fatalities on the Pennsylvania System as a result of trespassing. The tracks of the Pennsylvania are lined with factories, as they run through the densest industrial section, through territory which holds more than half of the population of the United States. Over 1,000 trespassers were arrested in the year 1909.

In 1898, 4,063 trespassers lost their lives on American railroads; five years later the number was 5,000 and in 1907 the number killed was 5,612—more than 15 a day. These figures are taken from the annual reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Figures compiled by the Pennsylvania Railroad alone show that 465 trespassers lost their lives on that System's lines in 1899; 781 were killed in 1904; while in 1907 the number reached 915—an average of almost three for every business day in the year.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has now posted its tracks and stationed watchmen to see that warnings against trespassing are respected. By redoubling its efforts the company is endeavoring to reduce the number of trespassers who are killed and injured by an even greater number than it has done in the past three years.

The co-operation of city and county authorities has been solicited in this campaign. Heretofore the actual punishment of persons violating the laws forbidding trespassing on a railroad's private property has been infrequent. The cost of imprisonment has deterred the local courts from holding those arrested while trespassing on railroad property.

Here is a laughable experience of Lord Sheffield. He was once walking down Piccadilly with a friend, to whom he explained that it would be impossible for any one to pick his pocket without his knowledge. Lord Sheffield's pocket handkerchief was hanging out, and his friend, having diverted his attention, quietly abstracted it. Instantly Lord Sheffield collared a seedy looking man who was passing and charged him with the theft, but the friend producing the handkerchief and explaining the joke, the unfortunate individual whom his lordship had so unceremoniously seized was released with many apologies. The man bent a hasty retreat, and shortly afterwards Lord Sheffield discovered that he had lost his pocketbook.—London Express

"Old Hickory."

The following story is told of how General Andrew Jackson got his title of "Old Hickory." Captain William Allen, who was a near neighbor of the general, messed with him during the Creek war. During the campaign the soldiers were moving rapidly to surprise the Indians and were without tents. A cold March wind came on, mingled with sleet, which lasted for several days. General Jackson got a severe cold, but did not complain, as he tried to sleep in a muddy bottom, among his half frozen soldiers. Captain Allen and his brother, John, cut down a stout hickory tree, peeled off the bark and made a covering for the general, who was with difficulty persuaded to crawl under it. The next morning a drunken citizen entered the camp and, seeing the tent, kicked it over. As Jackson crawled from the ruins the toper cried: "Hello, Old Hickory! Come out of your bark and pine us in a drink."—Detroit News.

Signs in the Political Sky Guarantee Republican Success in Pennsylvania

BACKSET FOR INSURGENCY

States in Middle West Indorse the President and Regular Republican Policies and the Discontents Are Harmless and Hopeless.

Never in the political history of Pennsylvania were the prospects for Republican success brighter than they are today. The campaign for Governor in the State is certain to be under full headway within ten days and so far as the regular Republican organization is interested there is not a factional ripple on the political horizon. As for the Democrats there is a continuous performance of war to the knife and knife to the hilt, with the leaders in each of the two warring factions demanding an eye for an eye with no hope or wish for compromise and only extermination of one or the other in view. This rather crude estimate of the situation in Pennsylvania is in no way exaggerated. It is based on absolute facts which must of necessity be apparent to any unprejudiced observer. The recent primaries in this State and the political developments in other States have told in eloquent and forceful tones the public confidence which is grounded in the regular Republican party of the country. In Wisconsin and Iowa the asylums for the political discontents of the nation, where the battle lines were drawn between the regular Republicans and their irregular opponents, the regulars won in almost every instance. In Iowa the regular Republican candidate for Governor was nominated by a safe majority over his so-called insurgent opponent. In Iowa political discontent was supposed to have reached its fullest growth and was supposed to have ripened for a record-breaking harvest, the returns show conclusively a substantial victory for the regulars and guarantee an emphatic and enthusiastic indorsement of President Taft and his administration. That indorsement is yet to come but the State convention which is to follow is certain to be in the hands of the regulars and the friends of the national administration. The two United States Senators from that State are lucky if their discontent is not condemned when the President and his course are being approved. In Wisconsin, another incubator of discontent and the home of Senator La Follette, the regular Republicans fairly cleaned the political platter and the Republican State convention's platform says: "We adhere to the principles of the Republican party as outlined in the platform adopted by the Republican national convention of 1908. We commend the administration of William H. Taft. We admire his character. We recognize his marked ability as a statesman and we applaud his fidelity to the pledges contained in the party platform and to the principles of good government." There were many other good things in that platform and every last feature of the proclamation was regular and was the voice of the regular Republicans of that State.

While these important events were happening in the middle west the administration at Washington, with but little fuss and with but few feathers, was making good. President Taft's program of legislation is being disposed of just as he insisted it should be, notwithstanding the fact that the discontents have endeavored to sprag his legislative wheel at every possible opportunity. The so-called railroad bill, the postal savings bill and all other bills pledged by the regular Republicans and guaranteed by the regular Republican President are now being polished for public tests and are certain to be given to an expectant world within a comparatively few days. That, however, is but one reason why the prospects of the Pennsylvania Republicans are brighter than ever before. Another very important reason for Republican confidence in this State is the fact that labor and capital are employed each to the great advantage of the other. The idle mills and factories and the general depression of business which obtained throughout the State when President Taft was inaugurated have yielded to double turn conditions in work. Wages and profits have been adjusted to the satisfaction of the employer and the employed, each having his equal and satisfactory share of the returns from their efforts and investments, and public confidence, thoroughly shaken and almost abandoned when President Taft was inaugurated, has been restored and the greatest good to the largest number has been adopted as the fixed principle of the party in power.

There is, however, another important factor in the politics of this State and that is the absence of genuine discontent. The recognized Republican leaders in Pennsylvania have led only where the members of that party have blazed the way. The responsibility for selecting the candidates has been left entirely with the party as a whole. There has been an agreeable absence of detraction from any and every source and the leaders have been promoted from the ranks. Leaders enjoy the confidence and esteem of the party workers and very naturally success attends their combined efforts. After all insurgency is but a polite name for political place hunters. The fellows who now pride themselves upon being called insurgents are those who have been without the Republican organization for years. They wanted office when they began to "insurge" a full quarter of a century ago. They have realized that no crumbs worth mentioning are likely to fall from the Democratic table, otherwise they would have long since joined the party of Bryan and distress. Therefore, their plain purpose is to wreck the regular Republican organization or force some terms which will guarantee their recognition. That is the fact in every county in Pennsylvania where there are signs of political discontent. It is but the noise of the place hunter who has been turned down by those who know him best. Why, therefore, should not the Republican sky be clear? The pledges made by the Republican organization of the nation are being redeemed in every possible particular. The Republican leadership in Pennsylvania has brought to the whole people prosperity almost beyond comprehension and the administration of Governor Edwin S. Stuart, to end with this year, has been the best in every possible way the State has ever enjoyed. His successor will be of his kind. He will be a stalwart with the Stuart administration and the Stuart policies as his guide and if for no other reason he will be triumphantly elected because Governor Stuart, a regular Republican and the Governor of the whole people, was his predecessor.

Qualities of the Topaz.
The name of the precious stone inserted in the ring of Gyges has not been handed down to us, but it is probable that it was the topaz, whose wonders Philostratus recounts in the life of Apollonius. An attribute of the sun and of fire, the ancients called it the gold magnet, as it was credited with the power of attracting that metal, indicating its veins and discovering the treasures. Heliodorus in his story of Theagenes and Charicles says that the topaz saves from fire all those who wear it and that Charicles was preserved by a topaz from the fiery vengeance of Arsaces, queen of Ethiopia. This stone was one of the first talismans that Theagenes possessed in Egypt. The topaz at present symbolizes Christian virtues—faith, justice, temperance, gentleness, clemency.—Paris Figaro.

Woman and the Jewish Talmud.
The Jewish Talmud has these sentences about women: "A good wife is heaven's noblest gift. A housewife never allows herself to be disturbed from her work. Even while conversing she is busily spinning. An old, experienced woman in a household is an ornament to it like a pearl. He who lives in an unmarried state knows no joys, none of the blessings of home, and is without support. The man who stands at the deathbed of his wife feels like those who saw the temple of Jerusalem reduced to ashes, for the wife is the temple in which each man finds repose and quiet, where he rests after the labors of the day and where he can give expression to his feelings, joyful and mournful. God has given to woman more ability of judging correctly than man."

Saves Trouble.
"Why don't you come in occasionally between drinks," demanded the wife, "and see the play?"
"I don't need to," replied the bibulous husband. "The bartender is familiar with the plot, imitates the actors and also knows a lot of gossip about their personal and family affairs."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Enlightened.
"We all make blunders. I thought once I was a square peg when I was really a round one."
"How did you find out your mistake?"
"I got into a hole."—Boston Transcript.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Fergus' Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. EPISCOPALS PULL

ONE OVER ON THE CHRISTIAN TEAM

The Episcopalists by a display of much class last night whisked the game away from the Christians by the score of 8 to 2. The majority of the trouble happened in the first inning, when the fellows from the corner of Lookout avenue and Sixth street, captured five runs by the ardent application of the big stick. In the second inning they secured two more runs and the final one came in the third. The Christians scored one tally in the second inning on a fielder's choice, an error, and a single. In the seventh by two hits they got another.

McGowan essayed to pitch for the Christians, but after the first inning changed his mind, and let Kiefer resume the mound. The game was really a good one. Montgomery in left for the Episcopalists won the plaudits of the crowd by handling perfectly four hard chances. The score:

MAKING GOOD PROGRESS ON FILTRATION PLANT

All Excavation Work Completed and Concrete is Being Put In

PUMP STATION ADDITION

Brick Structure Being Built to it to Make Room for New Duplicate Pump

Bad weather has interfered to some extent with the work on the construction of the filtration plant and addition to the pump station by the Charleroi Water company, but good progress has been made. The contract work is being done by the Phil and Miller company of Pittsburgh under the supervision of F. S. Adams, a water company engineer. The man in charge here for Phil and Miller is William F. Flaherty.

The filtration plant is being erected on the ground recently purchased from the Charleroi Lumber company by the Water company, it being the parcel of land lying between the street car and the railroad tracks adjoining the present pump station. All excavation work has now been completed, and now the concrete work is being done.

An addition the same size as the present pump station is being erected to it at the northern end. Some distance away is to be the filter house. This building is where the water will be filtered. It will be 66 by 50 feet, and the capacity will be 3,000,000 gallons a day.

To the north of the filter house will be constructed the settling basin, where the water will pass from the filter house. This structure will be 96 feet by 44 feet in dimensions, and will hold 875,000 gallons of water.

All the building will be constructed of pressed brick and will have slate roofing. The well will be allowed to remain where it now is. The work is being rushed to completion at an early date, and from the plans and specifications Charleroi is to have a filtration plant which would be a credit to a much larger city. Plenty of room is being left for future extensions.

In the town at the present time, according to Health Officer William Darby, there are 11 cases of measles, six cases of scarlet fever and a number of whooping cough. All the patients are being strictly guarded, and the houses where they exist are carefully quarantined to prevent a spread of any of the diseases.

YOUNGSTERS ADMIT THEY ROBBED STORE AT NORTH CHARLEROI

Younger Two Recently Returned at Expense of Local Juvenile Court Committee From Philadelphia

David Nutting, aged about 17 years, and Julius Orras, aged about 14 years, entered pleas to the court yesterday of guilty to felonious breaking and entry at North Charleroi. The younger boy had formerly been before the juvenile court and was placed in a protective near Philadelphia, from which he was recently released.

The court decided to send both to Morganza. The two lads had entered the store of Mary Shanks at North Charleroi, and had carried away groceries to the value of $38. From the Shanks store they carried off two gallons of ice cream, a large box of cigarettes, five boxes of chewing gum, three pies, four boxes of candy, box of cigars, eight packages of Tuxedo tobacco, a ham, a cheese, one dozen boxes of zigzag candy, five packages of Old Hickory tobacco, three dozen oranges, 100 cigars, $0 tobies, $1 in cash, and other goods.

They also entered the store of Frank Marant on Fifth street and Fallowfield avenue and carried away groceries to the amount of $9.60. This included 23 boxes of sardines and other eatables.

The Charleroi juvenile court committee recently paid $10 car fare to bring young Orras back from the eastern institution to be placed in a home. Orras was one of the "Dirty Dozen," a gang of juveniles who committed all sorts of depredations in this community, and was broken up by the arrest and commitment of the principals to the care of the juvenile court.

MINISTERS ASK LEAGUE TO BAR CERTAIN PLAYERS

Adopt Resolution Requesting President Johnston to Debar Those Who Take Part in Sunday Games

COPIES WILL BE SENT TO OTHER TOWNS

The following is the resolution secularizing of the Sabbath, and thus hold up the high standard of good and legitimate athletics which every pastor representing the various churches has encouraged; and that we believe the young men who engage in these games do so from a high estimate of that which they represent and that they will not suffer any break in this good sentiment.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the commission of the Church Baseball League and the President, J. K. Johnston, and that he instruct his managers to debar any members of the Church League who participate in Sunday games at any place.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Ministers Association or a representative minister of the neighboring towns, and if they have not already done so, urge them to pass resolutions of a similar kind as opposing Sunday games or any sort in their respective towns and thus unite with us in fostering Christian sentiment for the protection of the Sabbath, and further that a copy of these resolutions be sent to our local paper for publication.

Lawrence Countians Boosting Congressman Tener for Governor

New Castle Herald Says He Would Make Good Official—Has Executive Ability and Good Statesmansepi

The New Castle Herald yesterday contains the following in regard to the candidacy of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor:

"Signs continue to multiply that Congressman John K. Tener of this district has a very excellent chance of securing the Republican nomination for Governor. This would please his thousands of friends in this district and throughout the State. That he has many friends is amply shown by the magnificent vote he received for re-election."

"The Herald would be perfectly satisfied with his selection, as he has already demonstrated many qualities of statesmanship. He possesses force of character and a mind of his own 'grace at all. But 'it's never too late to mend' and 'better late than never' are sayings as true as they are old."

interest of the public.

"That he would receive strong support in this part of the State is certain. Even in this city he would now receive the support of newspapers that only two years ago were bitterly opposed to him, supporting Congressman Acheson for the Republican Congressional nomination. The Herald was at that time in favor of the Charleroi statesman and it is yet."

"This paper is glad to witness the newspaper change of heart and politics that is being 'local' into the straight Republican camp, although this change requires no small skill in mental acrobatics to enable it to land there with any grace at all. But 'it's never too late to mend' and 'better late than never' are sayings as true as they are old."

Graduating Class Elect Officers

Preliminary Arrangements are Made for Commencement to Be Held June 28

The graduating class of Douglas Business College at a meeting yesterday afternoon elected officers, and made preliminary arrangements for holding the commencement exercises at School Hall on June 28. The officers elected were: President, Glenn Lynn, Donora, vice president, Miss Janie Jones, Donora, secretary, Miss Ida M. Good, West Brownsville, treasurer, Miss Margaret Miller, Charleroi.

The growing sentiment in favor of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor has added zest to the proposed excursion, and the indications are that it will be a trip long to be remembered by those who take part in it.

WILL ASK FOR BIDS SHORTLY

Engineers at Work Preparing Plans for Changes at Brownsville

THREE RAILROADS SHARE

Bids will be called for within a short time by the three connecting railroads at Brownsville, the Pennsylvania, the P. and L. E. and the Monongahela for the construction of a new double track bridge, the construction of new classification yards, the elevation of another yard to a new grade, and the erection of a 40 foot concrete arch. The bridge alone will mean the expenditure of $750,000. It will be a double track affair and have a channel span of 450 feet. The three roads will share in the cost of the work.

The chief feature of the work is the construction of the bridge, which will be put up with a view to having it serve for many years. It will be 10 feet higher than the structure it is to replace and will be of unusually heavy construction. It will require 10,000 cubic yards of masonry, among other things.

The concrete arch that the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie is to build will carry the tracks over the approach which crosses a roadway.

The Pennsylvania in the classification yards it is to build will have 30 tracks, each half a mile long. The yard will be operated on the gravity system. The Monongahela railroad will carry out an enlargement of its yards which has been contemplated for some time. In all, there will be required 300,000 cubic yards of fill to properly ballast the new terminal point where the roads exchange freight.

Notice

The Washington Avenue Cadets are ordered to report for parade duty at the Second street school building on Tuesday evening, June 14, at 6:20 o'clock sharp in service uniforms with arms, company colors and drum. Car leaves at 6:30. Chas. Wallgren, Captain.

MR. TENER MUCH FAVORED

"Are you going to Harrisburg?" This is the all important question in this community just now. In view of the fact that a large delegation from Charleroi and vicinity is expected to attend the Republican State convention at Harrisburg next week. The growing sentiment in favor of Congressman John K. Tener for Governor has added zest to the proposed excursion, and the indications are that it will be a trip long to be remembered by those who take part in it.

As previously stated the proposition is to charter a train of Pullman sleeping cars, and to start from Pittsburgh about noon on Tuesday of next week, arriving in Harrisburg that evening. The convention will be held the next day, and it is the intention to make a striking demonstration on the evening before in favor of Mr. Tener. Delegations will be received from a number of points in the district up and down the river and the excursion will be joined by the delegation from the county seat and intermediate points.

Over at the county seat the Tener boomers are most enthusiastic. They have chartered four Pullman cars, and almost a hundred have already submitted their names and been given reservations. This section of the excursion will join the Charleroi contingent at Pittsburgh, and make up a special train for the State capital. The fare for the round trip will be $15 including sleeping quarters in the cars while lying over at Harrisburg. It is essential for all who propose going to pay the amount over to the committee in order that the reservations may be made. This is a matter that cannot be delayed, and the committee must have the money in hand in order to charter the train. Payments may be made to W. W. Jimison, J. E. Masters, W. R. Gaut, C. P. Thompson or R. E. Rush.

FRIENDS REMEMBER LITTLE GIRL ON HER FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Frances Metz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Metz of North Charleroi, was tendered a party by her little friends yesterday afternoon in honor of her fourth birthday. A number of beautiful presents was received by the little girl, and a pleasant afternoon was spent. The hours were from 2 to 5 and during that time the little folks enjoyed themselves with games of a various nature. Luncheon was served. Mrs. C. A. Metz was assisted by her daughter, Miss Mary Metz and Miss Mamie Rockwell and Miss Genevieve Nutt.

One of the chief arguments in favor of paying by check is a guard against over payment.

On to Harrisburg

The proposition to send a delegation from Charleroi to the Republican convention at Harrisburg next week, where Congressman John K. Tener's name may come before the convention as a candidate for Governor, is a fitting tribute to a worthy citizen and townsman. Charleroi is long on civic pride, and prospective honors for the town have always met with a ready response. It is a matter of local importance to make a demonstration in keeping with our claims and the people of this community can very materially aid the cause by showing at least that their favorite son has no lack of loyal supporters at home. In addition to this visit to the nominating convention is a matter of education and well worth the time and expense. It has been charged that a few politicians dictate affairs and make the nominations. If delegations from each county were to accompany their delegates and oversee their official action, affairs would not be so cut and dried as they appear. Those who attend a State nomination convention have the opportunity of seeing and knowing how things are conducted, and if more citizens made it a point of looking in on proceedings it is altogether likely that more deference would be given to the popular will. Those who attend the convention from a patriotic sense of duty will perform a useful service to their fellow citizens.

Keep Off the Tracks

One hundred and five thousand casualties of which 50,000 were fatalities, is the result of persons trespassing on railroad tracks in the United States during the past eleven years. In other words 4,181 people are killed and 50,000 injured every year while walking on the tracks where they have no business to be. A war that kills and wounds that many people annually and keeps it up for eleven years in succession, would be considered a pretty bloody sort of conflict. It is to prevent this sanguinary slaughter that the Pennsylvania railroad company has become active in trying to prevent trespassing on its tracks. It employs special officers for the occasion, pays them for their services and yet for this humane effort the company is violently criticized. In many cases its officers are resisted and anathematized as infringing upon the rights of citizenship, and in some instances the county authorities refuse to receive officers that have been committed for trespassing and jeopardizing their lives. Perhaps the greatest objection to the enforcement of the trespass law by the railroad company is that the tracks afford so much better thoroughfare for foot passengers than the muddy roads at certain seasons of the year. To a certain extent each community is responsible for the annual slaughter by not providing passable footways for the public. At all events the railroads are performing a work of mercy in trying to reduce this slaughter. Five thousand people a year is too large a tribute to be uselessly sacrificed when they might have been spared. Therefore it is well for people to remember that they are liable to arrest as well as to be killed if they use the railroad tracks for a thoroughfare.

A Comparison

That the Mail's editorial columns are closely read was demonstrated yesterday by an error in the makeup. A disquisition on cancer, on the issues of the Democracy and the sentiment in favor of John K. Tener for Governor were so mixed up that it required considerable ingenuity on the part of the reader to decipher the intent of each editorial. This is a common occurrence on the inside, but for some unaccountable reason it was not discovered until the edition was about off the press.

No sooner was the paper out than calls began to be received over the phone calling attention to the mixup. Soon afterward interested readers began dropping in to tell the management about it, and representatives were hailed on the street, until the public was satisfied that the Mail was thoroughly cognizant of the error.

While the Mail has no excuses to offer—it was one of those slips of a business that mechanically as well as mentally has perhaps more details to watch than any other occupation—the error was of no graver import than is committed every day in any business house and profession in town or elsewhere. Because it was spread before the public it was conspicuous. The mistakes of doctors are buried; those of lawyers often dangle from the gallows or pine in prisons, while the errors of merchants, bankers and manufacturers are charged off to the profit and loss account. The mistakes of newspapers, however, are heralded to the public, and for that reason alone undue vigilance is exerted. In point of accuracy, considering the complexity of detail and time of execution, newspapers make fewer errors than any class of business men. The latter can conceal their mistakes, but those of the former are revealed at once, and on that account vigilance and care is the first requisite. That some escape this vigilance is not strange, but the number in proportion to the matter handled is surprisingly small.

The former renowned county politician's dabble into present day politics, bears the evidences of being nothing more or less than a systematic illusion of his own mental faculties.

MANY MEET DEATH FROM TRESPASSING

Trespassing on railroad property in violation of the law has caused the deaths of more than 50,000 people in the United States in the last eleven years. In this same period more than 55,000 trespassers have been injured.

With a view to reducing to a minimum the practice of trespassing on its property, the Pennsylvania Railroad has determined to redouble its efforts to secure on its lines that rigid enforcement of the law against trespassing which in foreign countries has done so much to decrease the number of fatalities resulting from trespassing.

In 1907 the Pennsylvania inaugurated a vigorous campaign against trespassing, and due doubtless to this, the number of trespassers killed in 1908 was only 757. In 1909, 732 lost their lives in this way. In the eleven years prior to January 1, 1910, exactly 7,972 people who were on the Pennsylvania Railroad's right of way in wilful violation of the law, in spite of thousands of warning signs along the railroad, were killed. It is thus seen that in the seven years an average of two trespassers a day have been killed on Pennsylvania Railroad property.

This long death roll is every year charged up to the Railroad even though these people are killed as a result of their violating the law, and under conditions over which the Company has no control.

It is not only tramps who are killed and injured while trespassing, though thousands of them lose their lives in this way every year. Men of the laboring class, factory workmen, their wives and children, who use railroad tracks as thoroughfares, are killed by the hundreds. That the practice of walking on railroad tracks is prevalent in industrial districts gives added significance to the fatalities on the Pennsylvania System as a result of trespassing. The tracks of the Pennsylvania are lined with factories, as they run through the densest industrial section, through territory which holds more than half of the population of the United States. Over 1,000 trespassers were arrested in the year 1909.

In 1898, 4,063 trespassers lost their lives on American railroads; five years later the number was 5,000 and in 1907 the number killed was 5,612—more than 15 a day. These figures are taken from the annual reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Figures compiled by the Pennsylvania Railroad alone show that 465 trespassers lost their lives on that System's lines in 1899; 781 were killed in 1904; while in 1907 the number reached 915—an average of almost three for every business day in the year.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has now posted its tracks and stationed watchmen to see that warnings against trespassing are respected. By redoubling its efforts the company is endeavoring to reduce the number of trespassers who are killed and injured by an even greater number than it has done in the past three years.

The co-operation of city and county authorities has been solicited in this campaign. Heretofore the actual punishment of persons violating the laws forbidding trespassing on a railroad's private property has been infrequent. The cost of imprisonment has deterred the local courts from holding those arrested while trespassing on railroad property.

A Greater Loss.

Here is a laughable experience of Lord Sheffield. He was once walking down Piccadilly with a friend, to whom he explained that it would be impossible for any one to pick his pocket without his knowledge. Lord Sheffield's pocket handkerchief was hanging out, and his friend, having diverted his attention, quietly abstracted it. Instantly Lord Sheffield collared a seedy looking man who was passing and charged him with the theft, but the friend producing the handkerchief and explaining the joke, the unfortunate individual whom his lordship had so unceremoniously seized was released with many apologies. The man beat a hasty retreat, and shortly afterwards Lord Sheffield discovered that he had lost his pocketbook.—London Express

"Old Hickory."

The following story is told of how General Andrew Jackson got his title of "Old Hickory." Captain William Allen, who was a near neighbor of the general, messed with him during the Creek war. During the campaign the soldiers were moving rapidly to surprise the Indians and were without tents. A cold March wind came on mingled with sleet, which lasted for several days. General Jackson got a severe cold, but did not complain, as he tried to sleep in a muddy bottom among his half frozen soldiers. Captain Allen and his brother, John, cut down a stout hickory tree, peeled off the bark and made a covering for the general, who was with difficulty persuaded to crawl under it. The next morning a drunken citizen entered the camp and, seeing the tent, kicked it over. As Jackson crawled from the ruins the toper cried: "Hello, Old Hickory! Come out of your bark and jine us in a drink."—Detroit News.

PROSPECTS ARE VERY BRIGHT

Signs in the Political Sky Guarantee Republican Success in Pennsylvania

BACKSET FOR INSURGENCY

States in Middle West Indorse the President and Regular Republican Policies and the Discontents Are Harmless and Hopeless.

Never in the political history of Pennsylvania were the prospects for Republican success brighter than they are today. The campaign for Governor in the State is certain to be under full headway within ten days and so far as the regular Republican organization is interested there is not a fractional ripple on the political horizon. As for the Democrats there is a continuous performance of war to the knife and knife to the hilt, with the leaders in each of the two warring factions demanding an eye for an eye with no hope or wish for compromise and only extermination of one or the other in view. This rather crude estimate of the situation in Pennsylvania is in no way exaggerated. It is based on absolute facts which must of necessity be apparent to any unprejudiced observer. The recent primaries in this State and the political developments in other States have told in eloquent and forceful tones the public confidence which is grounded in the regular Republican party of the country. In Wisconsin and Iowa the asylums for the political discontents of the nation, where the battle lines were drawn between the regular Republicans and their irregular opponents, the regulars won in almost every instance. In Iowa the regular Republican candidate for Governor was nominated by a safe majority over his so-called insurgent opponent. In Iowa political discontent was supposed to have reached its fullest growth and was supposed to have ripened for a record-breaking harvest, the returns show conclusively a substantial victory for the regulars and guarantee an emphatic and enthusiastic indorsement of President Taft and his administration. That indorsement is yet to come but the State convention which is to follow is certain to be in the hands of the regulars and the friends of the national administration. The two United States Senators from that State are lucky if their discontent is not condemned when the President and his course are being approved. In Wisconsin, another incubator of discontent and the home of Senator La Follette, the regular Republicans fairly cleaned the political platter and the Republican State convention's platform says: "We adhere to the principles of the Republican party as outlined in the platform adopted by the Republican national convention of 1908. We commend the administration of William H. Taft. We admire his character. We recognize his marked ability as a statesman and we applaud his fidelity to the pledges contained in the party platform and to the principles of good government. There were many other good things in that platform and every last feature of the proclamation was regular and was the voice of the regular Republicans of that State.

While these important events were happening in the middle west the administration at Washington, with but little fuss and with but few feathers, was making good. President Taft's program of legislation is being disposed of just as he insisted it should be, notwithstanding the fact that the discontents have endeavored to sprag his legislative wheel at every possible opportunity. The so-called railroad bill, the postal savings bill and all other bills pledged by the regular Republicans and guaranteed by the regular Republican President are now being polished for public tests and are certain to be given to an expectant world within a comparatively few days. That, however, is but one reason why the prospects of the Pennsylvania Republicans are brighter than ever before. Another very important reason for Republican confidence in this State is the fact that labor and capital are employed each to the great advantage of the other. The idle mills and factories and the general depression of business which obtained throughout the State when President Taft was inaugurated have yielded to double turn conditions in work. Wages and profits have been adjusted to the satisfaction of the employer and the employed, each having his equal and satisfactory share of the returns from their efforts and investments, and public confidence, thoroughly shaken and almost abandoned when President Taft was inaugurated, has been restored and the greatest good to the largest number has been adopted as the fixed principle of the party in power.

There is, however, another important factor in the politics of this State and that is the absence of genuine discontent. The recognized Republican leaders in Pennsylvania have led only where the members of that party have blazed the way. The responsibility for selecting the candidates has been left entirely with the party as a whole. There has been an agreeable absence of dictation from any and every source and the leaders have been promoted from the ranks.

Leaders enjoy the confidence and esteem of the party workers and very naturally success attends their combined efforts. After all insurgency is but a polite name for political place hunters. The fellows who now pride themselves upon being called insurgents are those who have been with the Republican organization for years. They wanted office when they began to "insurge" a full quarter of a century ago. They have realized that no crumbs worth mentioning are likely to fall from the Democratic table, otherwise they would have long since joined the party of Bryan and dispossessed. Therefore, their plain purpose is to wreck the regular Republican organization or force some terms which will guarantee them recognition. That is the fact in every county in Pennsylvania where there are signs of political discontent. It is but the noise of the place hunter who has been turned down by those who know him best. Why, therefore, should not the Republican sky be clear? The pledges made by the Republican organization of the nation are being redeemed in every possible particular. The Republican leadership in Pennsylvania has brought to the whole people prosperity almost beyond comprehension and the administration of Governor Edwin S. Stuart, to end with this year, has been the best in every possible way the State has ever enjoyed. His successor will be of his kind. He will be a stalwart with the Stuart administration and the Stuart policies as his guide and if for no other reason he will be triumphantly elected because Governor Stuart, a regular Republican and the Governor of the whole people, was his predecessor.

Qualities of the Topaz.
The name of the precious stone inserted in the ring of Gyges has not been handed down to us, but it is probable that it was the topaz, whose wonders Philostratus recounts in the life of Apollonius. An attribute of the sun and of fire, the ancients called it the gold magnet, as it was credited with the power of attracting that metal, indicating its veins and discovering the treasures. Heliodorus in his story of Theagenes and Charicles says that the topaz saves from fire all those who wear it and that Charicles was preserved by a topaz from the fiery vengeance of Arsaces, queen of Ethiopia. This stone was one of the first talismans that Theagenes possessed in Egypt. The topaz at present symbolizes Christian virtues—faith, justice, temperance, gentleness, clemency.—Paris Figaro.

Woman and the Jewish Talmud.
The Jewish Talmud has these sentences about women: "A good wife is heaven's noblest gift. A housewife never allows herself to be disturbed from her work. Even while conversing she is busily spinning. An old, experienced woman in a household is an ornament to it like a pearl. He who lives in an unmarried state knows no joys, none of the blessings of home, and is without support. The man who stands at the deathbed of his wife feels like those who saw the temple of Jerusalem reduced to ashes, for the wife is the temple in which each man finds repose and quiet, where he rests after the labors of the day and where he can give expression to his feelings, joyful and mournful. God has given to woman more ability of judging correctly than man."

Saves Trouble.
"Why don't you come in occasionally between drinks," demanded the wife, "and see the play?"
"I don't need to," replied the bibulous husband. "The bartender is familiar with the plot, imitates the actors and also knows a lot of gossip about their personal and family affairs."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Cheney's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

EPISCOPALS PULL ONE OVER ON THE CHRISTIAN TEAM

The Episcopalists by a display of much class last night whisked the game away from the Christians by the score of 8 to 2. The majority of the trouble happened in the first inning, when the fellows from the corner of Lookout avenue and Sixth street, captured five runs by the ardent application of the big stick. In the second inning they secured two more runs and the final one came in the third. The Christians scored once tally in the second inning on a fielder's choice, an error, and a single. In the seventh by two hits they got another.

McGowan essayed to pitch for the Christians, but after the first inning changed his mind, and let Kiefer resume the mound. The game was really a good one. Montgomery in left for the Episcopalists won the plaudits of the crowd by handling perfectly four hard chances. The score:

Eczema—A Germ Disease Can Now Be Cured.

The medical profession is all agreed that Eczema is a germ disease but the thing that has baffled them is to find some remedy that will get to the germs and destroy them.

Zemo the clean, external treatment has solved this difficulty by drawing the germs to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the diseases. The whole method of treatment and cure by Zemo is explained in an interesting book on the subject issued by the makers of Zemo. It tells how to cure yourself at home on Eczema, Blackheads, Pimples, Dandruff and all diseases of the skin and scalp. Call at Piper Bros. Drug Store for Booklet and learn more about this clean, simple remedy that is now recognized the standard treatment for all diseases of the skin and scalp.
